Bitter-Enders See Rejection and Friends Scent Final Adoption.
MIDDLE OF ROAD TRACK
Even the Democrats See a Ray of Hope in Harding's Foreign Policies.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.
(Copyright, 1921.)

Washington—Warren Harding may be known in history as "the great compromiser." Judging by the expressions of pleasure which came from practically every faction in congress after hearing the president's address, there can be no doubt that Mr. Harding has embarked on a middle of the road course best calculated to cool the partisan passions of the last two years.

The "bitter-enders" and "unreconcilables" are happy. The true friends of international cooperation and a league of nations are pleased beyond measure—the message is more than they expected. Even the Democrats are quietly saying "I told you so" in referring to the acceptance by Mr. Harding of the Versailles treaty, as basis for future foreign policy. And the diplomatic representatives of foreign nations, who only yesterday were despairing of America, wondering if the incredible rumors of a return to national isolation could be true, are gratified that while the method and the phrases may differ, while the formula may not be so all comprehensive, the spirit of altruism still breathes in America. The allies who fought the war with us are not to be deserted—peace is to be made in harmony with their wishes rather than those of Germany.

Mr. Harding himself surveys the situation with the naive confidence that he has but expressed more definitely the pledges of his campaign. It is this league of nations—the existing one—which must be rejected, but he utters no word of disapproval against plans to use the existing league as a basis for changes that would suit America. He doesn't close the door on that. But, of course, changes would make it a different league—perhaps the Harding league, as the Wilson league. The true friends of an association of nations do not care much about names or titles. The passion for international cooperation knows no pride of authorship.

There is, moreover, a hope in the camp of the pro-league Republicans that Mr. Harding's league may be even a better league. Hindsight is better than foresight and the interweaving of the league with the conference of the Versailles treaty which was conceived by Mr. Wilson as a virtue is now looked upon by many true friends of the league, such as Herbert Hoover, as a retarding influence—an obstacle to the better development of international amity. Mr. Hoover has contended throughout that the separation of the enforcement clauses of the treaty from those which have for their object international counsel and conference would be a step forward in the history of world cooperation. Mr. Harding has taken up the idea and it is expected enthusiastic response.

Of course the "bitter-enders" regard as just so much twaddle the notion that there will ever be any kind of a league of nations with American membership. They say they are delighted with the message because Mr. Harding sticks a knife in the Versailles treaty and carves out the league. They insist that once the league is torn from the Versailles treaty it will collapse and while there will be much talk, there will be no action.

Such forecast of the future may prove true, eventually, but it finds no sympathy in the executive end of the avenue where the influences for a closer working agreement with the nations of the world are multiplying daily instead of diminishing. Secretary Charles Evans Hughes of the department of state is pointing his policy entirely toward American membership in some association of nations.

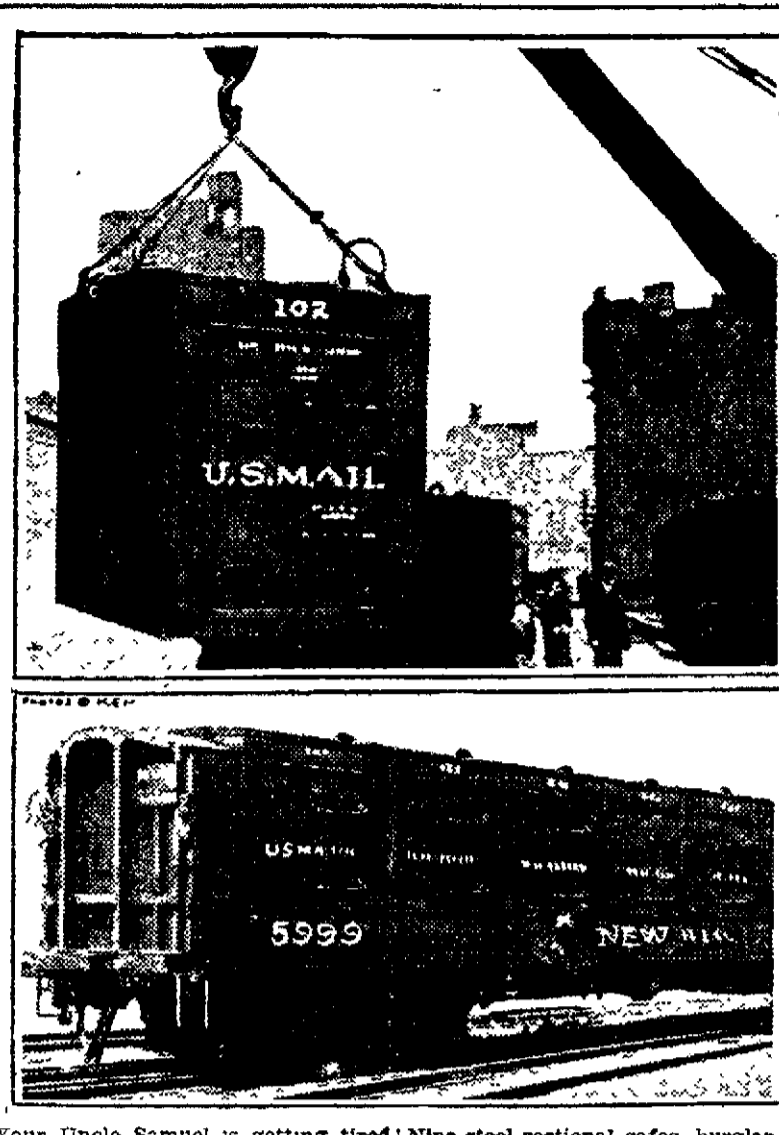

BOOTLEGGERS MADE BILLION IN PROFIT

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington — Bootleggers made profits totaling nearly $1,000,000,000 last year, it was estimated here Thursday on the basis of internal revenue bureau reports showing that approximately 200,000,000 gallons of liquor were withdrawn from bonded warehouses last year.

Between $200,000,000 and $500,000,000 of this should be paid to the government in income and excess profits taxes. So far, as tax records show, no profits earned by bootleggers were reported or paid in taxes. Tax officials are looking longingly at the gross profit of the bootleggers last year which was equal to the amount the government paid in interest on the entire war debt.

The new commissioner of the bureau of internal revenue, it is suggested, may discover a way to collect the tax. Many officials regard the possibility of collecting the bootleggers' tax as really worth while. Others scoff at the proposal. Bootleggers who made a return even though the returns were camouflaged, would be immediately open to prosecution for violating the Volstead law. It is pointed out.

Taft Commends Harding Attitude On Peace Pact

BETTER EGGS ARE IN PROSPECT FOR CHICAGO

By United Press Leased Wire.
Chicago—Said the big Brown rooster to the little red hen: "Your eggs haven't been candied for goodness knows when." But eggs were safe for Chicago again Thursday when the Egg Inspectors union, on strike since April 1, settled their difficulties with the Egg Merchants' association.

However, until Thursday the city has been "enjoying" unincorporated eggs. Eggs, according to union leaders, that were used hitherto only on amateur nights at theaters and during speeches of unpopular statesmen, have been sold to the housewives.

"I wasn't consulted in the settlement," cackled the little red hen.

"Think I'll strike for open coop conditions."

"I wasn't in on the strike either," crowed the big brown rooster. "I think it's a shell game."

SENATE ASKED TO CONFIRM NOMINEES

Washington — The nomination of Colonel George Harvey, New Jersey, to be ambassador to Great Britain, was sent to the senate Thursday by President Harding.

Myron T. Herrick, Ohio, was nominated for ambassador to France.

President Harding sent a long list of appointments to the senate in addition to the two diplomatic posts.

Charles G. Dawes, Illinois, was nominated brigadier general in the officers reserve corps.

Other new appointments include Captain Julian Tatmer to be judge advocate general of the navy with the rank of rear admiral, and David Potter to be postmaster general.

A long list of recess appointments was resubmitted for senate confirmation. It includes John J. Esch, Wisconsin, to be interstate commerce commissioner, and George H. Carter to be public printer.

HOLD WOMAN SPECULATOR ON FEDERAL FRAUD CHARGE

Indianapolis, Ind. — Indications Thursday were that Prosecutor William Evans will ask a complete federal investigation of alleged exploitation of the Muncie and Jay county oil fields as a sequel to the arrest of Neva Welby on a charge of embezzlement. The ground of the federal investigation would be that the United States mails were used in the schemes.

None of the persons financially interested in Neva's scheme to get rich quick via the Muncie fields, had come to her rescue Thursday. She was still in jail in default of $2,000 bond, but her spirits were not dampened.

Looking through her cell door soon after she arose this morning, she greeted the jailors and ate a hearty breakfast. She smiled and took her predicament in a matter-of-fact way. Jail attaches said she was not of the weeping willow type.

Former President Now Convinced That League of Nations Has Bad Defects and a New Association of Nations Might Well Be Formed.

BY WILLIAM H. TAFT
(Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Co.)
Philadelphia—The president in his message criticizes the existing league in the language employed in the Republican platform and in his previous addresses and says that the United States cannot be a party to it. He objects to it as a part of the treaty of peace because used by the Nations as an instrument for enforcing their claims under the treaty. He renews his pledge after peace shall be established to press upon other nations the making of an association of nations to preserve peace by covenanting, arrangement for disarmament, a court of international justice for justifiable differences, and a conference of nations to settle nonjusticiable views and prevent war growing out of them. He proposes to further the coming of real peace first by a single resolution of congress declaring peace with Germany. This he favored in his speech of acceptance and promised to sign as soon as presented to him. He is in these three respects merely carrying out officially his campaign engagements.

But he now does more. He declares against a separate peace treaty with Germany. He emphasizes our duty to stand with our allies in demanding just reparations used in bringing about reconstruction and real normal peace. He seeks by strong phrases to make it apparent that we have not changed sides since the war and that our assistance to our allies is as urgently necessary as during the war. He says that in pursuit of this duty and in order to secure our own rights as against Germany, our wise course is to become a party to the treaty of Versailles after securing freedom from commitments of the treaty.

U. S. Hampered
It is quite evident that our government has been embarrassed in protecting our rights by our not being a party to the treaty in securing reparations to the treaty in behalf of the United States, we must negotiate with the other powers. They are anxious to have us become a party and give our great moral support to proper execution of the treaty, but in their view as to the commitments of the treaty they should waive in our behalf, they may not be in full agreement with us. It will be a case for reasonable concession and compromise. They may ask that in consideration of their waiving our entering the existing League of Nations, we shall give some pledge to join an association of nations as outlined in Mr. Harding's address and messages. Indeed it is hard to foresee just what terms such a negotiation would formulate and, therefore, the president is wise not to be too definite.

The truth is he has the same general purpose of maintaining peace as those who have joined the league and the same three purposes in disarmament and machinery for settling justiciable and nonjusticiable issues.

FRANCE BACKS U. S. STAND ON YAP MANDATE

French Government Promises to Reopen Discussion at Next Allied Meeting.

ATTEMPT TO SATISFY U. S. BRIAND BELIEVES NEGOTIATIONS THUS FAR LEAVE OPENING FOR RECONSIDERATION.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington — The United States Thursday won the support of France in its fight to break the Japanese mandate over the island of Yap, according to the interpretation placed upon the French reply to the recent Hughes mandate note.

The French reply was received at the state department Thursday and the text made public. It is signed by Premier Briand and stated that the whole question of the Yap mandate would be reopened by France at the next meeting of the allied supreme council.

The text follows:

"I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the letter dated the fourth of this month by which your excellency was good enough to transmit to me a memorandum from the department of state relative to the status of the island of Yap.

"Since this memorandum was sent simultaneously to the governments of Great Britain, Italy and Japan, it cannot be answered until after an understanding has been reached between the governments of the four interested powers at the time of the next meeting of the supreme council of the allies.

Satisfy U. S.
"I wish, however, to inform your excellency at once that when this question comes before the supreme council, the representatives of France will broach the examination there with the greatest desire to find a solution which will give every satisfaction to the United States.

"As your excellency knows, the government of the republic has already done all in its power to lend its aid to the American government in this matter. By a note dated Feb. 18, after having voted that the decision of May 7, 1919, made no reserve concerning the mandate attributed to Japan over the islands of the northern Pacific, my department pointed out to your embassy that nevertheless President Wilson and Mr. Lansing had formulated in the course of a former meeting in the presence of the representative of Japan, categorical reservations concerning the island of Yap, that Baron Makino had not objected, that the question raised by the representatives of the United States should be placed in discussion and that consequently the Japanese government was cognizant of the American reservations. The note concluded that thus there were elements for a resumption of conversations between the United States and Japan which the government of the republic would be happy to see result in a satisfactory conclusion.

"This note was communicated on the same day to the embassy of Japan at Paris, and the excellency was good enough to express to my department your great satisfaction of this communication by giving the assurance that it would be particularly appreciated at Washington.

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul.—Albert F. Schuffman, St. Cloud, former athlete brought suit for $20,707.70 against W. J. Furd, dentist, Thursday, alleging the dentist carelessly left an extracted tooth slip into an incision in his jaw and left it there. The tooth worked down into the membranes of his neck and had to be extracted through a major operation, he said.

Blood poisoning resulting weakened his heart and he has been unable to work, or take part in athletics, he charged.

REFUSE TO EAT WHEN ESCAPE PLOT FAILS

Milwaukee.—Two prisoners in the county jail here, charged with an attempt at jail breaking Tuesday, have been on a hunger strike since their plans were discovered, according to officials of the jail Thursday.

The two are Raymond Roberts, Negro, held for carrying concealed weapons, and defacing automobile license plates, and Raymond Fitzpatrick, held for an attempted assault on a small girl.

Strange Love Triangle Uncovered In New York

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Herbert Thornton Andrews, 38, prosperous Wall street broker, Thursday, presented a full explanation of the strange circumstances under which he is residing with two women in a Jersey City apartment, each one claiming to be his wife.

The two women in the case are Maud Augusta Andrews, 42, who says she married Andrews in Portland, Maine, in 1912, and Esther Marie Andrews, 25, of Pittsburgh, who is alleged to have been married to Andrews Jan. 26, 1921, at Greenwhich, Conn.

Mrs. Andrews number one is the mother of two children, John, 8, and Harley, 6.

The strange case came to light last night when an agent of the reality company from which Andrews rents his apartment called to investigate the rumors he had heard.

Mrs. Andrews number one, it is said, told him that her husband had brought the younger woman into the

RUSH TARIFF BILL SURE TO GET BY HOUSE

Democrats Want Chance to Show "Fraud" in Republican Measure.

BEGIN DEBATE ON BUDGET

SALES TAX BILL WILL NOT BE HEARD BY SENATE COMMITTEE UNTIL NEXT WEEK.

Washington, D. C.—With the senate finance committee preparing its plan for sales tax and tax reform hearings, the house Thursday began debate on the Young emergency tariff bill, with passage scheduled for Friday.

"However, nobody will be heart broken if it doesn't pass until Saturday," said representative Mondell, Wyoming, republican house leader.

"If the boys want to talk an extra day, I'm not in favor of cutting 'em off."

The democratic "boys" want to talk.

"Of course, the Young bill will pass," Representative Kitchin, North Carolina, democratic leader, granted, "but before it does, we would like to describe just what sort of a fraud it is. I will fool the farmers, but the trusts and trust our foreign trade."

It was indicated that Senator Penrose, chairman of the senate finance committee, will not get public hearings on the sales tax bill by Senator Smoot underway until next week. This measure, Smoot estimates, will yield about $1,500,000,000 revenue annually.

Meanwhile the house will, according to program, have put the Young emergency tariff bill up to the senate and be ready to tackle next committee consideration of the budget bill, immigration and army and navy appropriations.

The Young bill, which now includes the emergency tariff, anti-dumping and foreign exchange adjustment, will not get more than ten democratic votes, Kitchin predicted.

At the democratic house caucus, which instructed against the bill by a vote of 77 to 23, about twenty democrats refused to be bound by the caucus dictum. Kitchin thinks, however, that half of these will "get into line" when the roll is called.

MEXICANS HELD IN PEONAGE IN TEXAS

Dallas, Texas.—Charges that Mexican laborers were found in chains in west Texas ranch houses are among allegations of Mexican peonage under investigation by the department of justice, Forest M. Spencer, chief federal investigator, announced Thursday.

Spencer said more than 20 Mexican laborers were being held involuntarily for labor purposes near Big Springs and will be taken before the grand jury at Abilene next week.

Spencer said he had information that Mexicans employed by many wealthy families of west Texas are being made to believe they will be severely punished if they leave their jobs. He declared all charges of cruelty to Mexican workers will be placed before the grand jury.

Many of the Mexicans alleged to be held in peonage now will be deported when the federal investigation is completed because of improper or expired passports, Spencer said.

LEGALIZE MARRIAGE TO MAN SLAIN IN FRANCE

By United Press Leased Wire
Dallas, Texas.—A "honeymoon in eternity" for Myrtle English, "soul wife" and James Edwards, a soldier buried in Flanders, was decreed Thursday by Judge E. E. Muse.

The bride appeared in court with the infant son of the dead doughboy and applied for legalization of common law marriage.

She filed a statement that the couple became engaged after war was declared in 1917, but parental objections halted the wedding.

Edwards was killed in France in 1918. In official papers he names the "soul wife" as his next of kin.

"The judge's decree makes the mother and infant legal heirs to Edwards' war risk insurance, gave to the young soldier's fighter's heritage and—where it will be a honeymoon in eternity," concluded Judge Muse.

END GRADE CROSSING FIGHT THIS SESSION

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—Grade crossing separation legislation for the 1921 session of the legislature ended late Wednesday when the senate killed the Bennett bill, requiring railroad companies to pay all expense of separating crossings where highways had the original right, by a vote of 21 to 11.

Passage of the bill meant an additional expense to the Wisconsin railroads of $400,000,000.

The same bill has been before every Wisconsin legislature since 1909. This year it was introduced by Senator J. Henry Bennett, Viroqua, who led the fight against the measure two years ago. Bennett in explaining his change in opinion, said the Each-Clum law permitted cost of separating all grade crossings to be borne by the railroads of the nation instead of the Wisconsin road.

Senator Skoogme, River Falls, led the fight against the bill.

At the conclusion of the vote reconsideration was moved by Senator Mulberger and voted down. The majority employed this parliamentary maneuver to prevent the subject from being considered again at this session.

E. R. Henderson left Thursday morning for Sycamore, Ill., on business.

British Strikers In An Ugly Mood As All Hope For Labor Peace Is Abandoned

ASSEMBLY VOTES TO END "JITNEY" BUS COMPETITION

Autobus Lines Placed Under Railroad Commission—Decrease Dog License.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—The assembly Thursday reversed itself and ordered to engrossment the Edwards bill which permits the state and county to participate in taxes on street car and lake ports.

The bill was fought by representatives from Superior, Milwaukee and other ports but was ordered engrossed by a vote of 45 to 41.

Under the bill all mill taxes levied upon grain will be divided 10 per cent to the state, 20 per cent to the county and 70 per cent to the municipality.

The assembly adopted the Ruffing bill allowing cities to increase their bonded indebtedness an additional 5 per cent or valuation in order to buy public utilities. The vote was 56 to 28.

The Perry bill bringing all motor busses under the jurisdiction of the railway commission as common carriers was passed by a vote of 68 to 17. The bill now goes to the senate for concurrence. The measure will stop jitney competition with street railway lines in the state and increase their liability in case of accident.

The Olson dog tax bill was passed by a vote of 64 to 16. The bill reduces the amount of the tax to $1 for male dogs and $3 for females. The assembly has considered the question four times. The bill goes to the senate.

The senate sustained Gov. Blaine on his veto of the Eau Claire municipal council bill Thursday after the motion to send the measure back to the governor failed 16 to 17.

At the same time it became known that James Nevins, veteran member of the state conservation commission would resign May 1. This action will probably iron out the differences existing between the board and the governor over the appointment of Tracy O. Webster, as successor to Nevins on the commission.

The senate had twice refused to confirm Webster on the purported ground he was a Republican and not eligible under the statutes. It is understood the senators desired to protect Nevins as long as he desired to hold office and withheld confirmation primarily for this purpose.

FOREIGN PROGRAM IS TAKING FORM

America Demands Complete Recognition of Rights Growing Out of War.

By United Press Leased Wire.
Washington—America's new international program was taking form Thursday.

Two principal points in this program being followed by President Harding and Secretary Hughes in deciding to what extent the United States will cooperate with the allies, are:

1—Complete recognition by the allied powers for full American rights in settlements growing out of the World war will be insisted on before any definite steps are taken to enter a modified form of the treaty of Versailles.

2—The president and Hughes will reach an agreement with the senate foreign relations committee on how far the United States should agree to the Versailles treaty before any negotiations are entered into with the allies on this subject.

The gist of the contention for recognition of American rights is that the United States is entitled to an equal voice in the disposition of the territories and resources surrendered as a result of the war. This policy was stated in Hughes' recent note to the allies on the mandate question. At least a tacit acceptance by the powers of the Hughes' principle is confidently expected here in the allied replies to Hughes' note. The French reply, the only one received, is understood to be one of acceptance, although France is said to be blocking the American claim to the former German cable from New York to Brest.

Hostilities Are Feared in Mining Countries as Hour for Strike Approaches.

PREPARING FOR TROUBLE

Government Still Hopes Lloyd-George Can Find Way Out of Difficulty.

By Ed L. Keen
By United Press Leased Wire
London—"I see no hope of settlement," J. H. Thomas, leader of the railwaymen, declared Thursday immediately after a conference between Premier Lloyd George and chiefs of the triple alliance in an effort to avert the great strike called for Friday.

As the labor leaders in whose hands lies the power to throw Britain into industrial chaos left the prime minister's official residence in Downing street, it was reported that a deadlock had been reached in the negotiations.

Lloyd George, it was said, made a strong appeal to the triple alliance chiefs to defer the strike order which will halt railways and transport throughout the United Kingdom, pointing out the grave danger to the nation which will be brought about by such a step, coming on top of the mining strike.

Labor is understood to believe that its very existence is at stake, however, and that if the miners fail in their fight against lower wages, there will be a general wage reduction in all trades. This sentiment was conveyed to Lloyd George.

Prepare For Trouble
Following the conference, the triple alliance rushed its strike preparations while the government hastened troop movements and other measures being taken to combat the great walk-out.

There was a feeling of tension and excitement in London Thursday such as prevailed only during the dark days of 1914, and during the period when the German menace loomed nearest.

The nation's attention was riveted on the house in Downing street where the prime minister was trying to find a way out. His supporters found comfort in the thought that he always had found a way out before. They believed he would do so again.

However the government took no chances. Troop concentration centers were very busy. Volunteer workers were being organized and placed at strategic positions in readiness to take strikers' places and keep essentials going.

Hostilities Imminent
Reports from the mining regions indicated it would not take much to start open hostilities between the strikers and the volunteers, backed by government forces.

"Let them blow off steam," was the word passed along the line.

In the "black country" where tall stacks have for years belched clouds of smoke by day and whirling clouds of sparks by night, there were many idle plants. An unnatural quiet hung over the area usually roaring with activity. Here too, thousands of men thrown out of work swarmed in the streets and their temper was uglier than that of the strikers.

Additional guards were in evidence Thursday at railway centers and along the principal railway lines. Railroad workers were going about their "business as usual" in fact many of the rank and file did not appear to be figuring on going out at all. Pouring a complete stoppage will be brought about by a walkout of transport workers, many of the larger hotels in London and other cities of England and Scotland were laying in extra food supplies Thursday.

FARM MACHINE CO. CUTS ITS PRICES

International Harvester Co. Slashes 10 Per Cent From Machine Costs.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—The first effect of the slash in steel prices was felt here Thursday when a straight 10 per cent cut in prices on farm machinery in which steel is used, was announced by the International Harvester company.

The reduction applies chiefly to harvesting machinery, covering grain and rice binders, shockers, reapers, and push machines, mowers, hay rakes, side delivery mowers, tenders, loaders, corn binders, huskers, pickers and silt rollers.

A reduction of 10 per cent in prices on all farm machinery composed principally of wood and iron, was announced last month by the harvester company.

The announcement said that the reduction comes in steel prices at a time when this year's product has been provided for and will have no effect on the cost of machines sold this year.

"However it does establish a lower replacement cost," the statement continued, "and serves as the basis of a price to which our customers are entitled and which we are willing to accept."

8 KILLED, 50 HURT IN TEXAS TORNADO

By United Press Leased Wire
McKinney, Texas.—With eight persons known dead and fifty injured, several seriously, relief parties continued Thursday to search the ruins of the town of Melissa which with the exception of one or two buildings was laid waste by a tornado.

The storm late Wednesday swept the town from the southwest to north west and Thursday it appeared like a devastated town of the war zone. All churches in the town, three cotton gins, every business house except a bank, the postoffice and the Houston and Texas Central railway station, were wrecked by the twister which formed near Franklin, washed farm houses about Poland, lashed Chambersville and then gave vent to its full force as it reached Melissa.

Five of the known dead are Negroes. The other three are children.

BIRD INTERRUPTS NEW LONDON POWER

An innocent crane flying over the fields between Stephentown and New London Wednesday afternoon caused the wheels of industry in New London to stop for it trying to pass between power wires from the local plant of the Wisconsin Traction.

RELIGIOUS COURSE FOR NEW MEMBERS STARTED

A new course of study is to be taken up in the progressive classes in Christianity at 7:30 Thursday evening in the First Congregational church. It is entitled "Religion in the Family" and is arranged particularly for the members who joined the church at Easter. Dr. H. E. Peabody will be in charge.

Studies in "The Gospel of John," will be continued in the class led by the Rev. G. E. Stickney.

The crane lost its life. It was killed by the wires. The crane was caught in the wires and the wires were burned out. The crane was caught in the wires and the wires were burned out.

DR. C. E. SCHMIDT, Dentist, now located in his new office in the Tesch Hardware Building at 636 Appleton Street.

Light, Heat and Power company, its wings formed a contact which caused a short circuit and burned the wires through. The crane lost its life.

A patrol crew was sent out about 4 o'clock in the afternoon to find out why the main switch at the power plant was thrown out. The truck started for New London but the men were obliged to get off and walk when they found three automobiles struck in a road along the route over which the wires were strung. They finally came to the place where the crane had become caught in the wires and thus were able to account for the trouble. The power was turned on in all other sections through a stub switch arrangement, leaving only the New London circuit off. The crew finished its repair work about 6 o'clock and service was resumed. The unfortunate crane weighed about 25 pounds and measured 6 feet, 8 inches from tip to tip with its wings spread. Flying with its wings outspread, a connection was formed between the two main feed wires supplying high voltage current to New London. The resulting short circuit burned the wires so connections were severed on both lines.

An accident of this kind is rare, because a bird must fly in a certain position to catch itself in the wires and form such a contact.

A daughter was adopted Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Hruska, 1111 Austin-ave., Neenah. Mr. and Mrs. Hruska are well known in the city having lived here until recently.

TAFT IS PLEASED WITH HARDING'S MESSAGE

They differ in names and methods. It is reasonable to hope that with common purposes they may come together in an arrangement which the president can approve and which while it may not seem as strong in its sanction of force and economic pressure may be practically a long step in the right direction.

See Defects in League

Those of us who strongly favored the League of Nations and its covenants must face the fact that in the time which has elapsed since it was presented to the world, the selfish aims of nations in the league and out of it, and the disposition to regard obligations plain on their fact as not mandatory but merely directory, have dimmed the enthusiasm of many of the league supporters and have made them willing to accept a less ambitious beginning for international machinery to secure peace. Had we entered the league with the Republican reservations in 1919, as we might, and should have done, we would doubtless have been engaged in making it over, as experienced showed its defects and its impracticable features. Now we are to approach the same subject in a different way with the same purpose but with more experience. We can only secure what we seek by adjustment of our ideas with four great nations now members of the existing League and, do what we will, the existing League and its structure must play a part on the new association to be formed.

SHOULDERS ON CEMENT ROADS ARE IN BAD SHAPE

Now that the surface of the country roads is hardening, autoists find that the shoulders abutting the concrete pavements are in bad shape. Most of them contain deep ruts made by machines using the side stretches while they were soft. These make driving difficult in places. It is necessary for the highway commission to haul in new material to fill in such places, because there is not enough dirt and stone at the sides to scrape into the ruts.

CHECK LOOKED GOOD BUT WAS WORTHLESS

Appleton Machine Co. Officer's Name Is Forged to Bogus Paper.

An Appleton grocer is looking for a stranger who pocketed about $15 of his hard earned cash, obtained on a cleverly prepared bogus check. The matter has been placed in the hands of the police but Chief George T. Prim has no clue to the identity of the forger.

Making a few minor purchases, the stranger presented a check to the grocer for $13.70, supposed to be a pay check of the Appleton Machine company, drawn on Appleton State bank. The grocer gave him the balance in change and later discovered that the check was worthless.

The check artist evidently had in his possession several fonts of rubber type. He stamped a large serial number in one corner of the check, and placed the name "Appleton Machine Co., S. Island and Lake-sts." in the lower corner. On the signature line he had stamped a printed line reading "Appleton Machine company, by E. E. Saecker, president."

Here the signature of E. E. Saecker was forged in purple ink. The check was made payable to "Henry Nelson" and had the figures printed in with a safety check writing device.

Menasha.—After an illness of five days, A. C. Keyes, traffic agent of the Chicago Great Western railway with Seattle headquarters, died of heart disease at his Tacoma home.

Keyes was widely known in north-west transportation circles, having begun his railroad career on the old Lake Shore and Western R. R. in 1892. He had been connected with the C. & N. W. for 17 years, serving in Oshkosh and Chicago in early days. During the war he was traffic inspector for the United States R. R. administration at Minneapolis. After the war he was appointed traffic agent.

Alderman Nielsen stated that three or four years ago the W. T. L. H. & P. Co. was granted a franchise to operate cars on East Wisconsin-ave. and as a part condition of the franchise the traction company was to construct a terminal station opposite the Valley Inn. No action has been taken on the station as yet, he said.

The mayor reported the Civic Association has taken the matter up with the traction company. Alderman Marty said in relation to records on service failures of gas and electricity the city should purchase a voltage recorder and a gas pressure recorder so a permanent and accurate record of service failures could be maintained. Alderman Marty was requested to get prices on voltage recorders and gas pressure recorders.

MY FIRST JOB

C. E. MULLEN Merchant

I started just twenty years ago the first of this month on the farm of Frank J. Bartlein, Manitowood-rd., three miles south of the city. He was a progressive, hard-working farmer. My wages were $6 a month with board and room. The hours were from sunrise to sunset, and sometimes later—depending upon the season of work. The work was healthy and the "eats" were the best. Mrs. Bartlein, who was a very good cook, sent lunches to us each day—at 10 in the morning, and at 3:30 in the afternoon. At that time I was 13 years old, and did all kinds of farm work with the exception of plowing.

Buy Your Coal Direct From Mine—Big Saving
The high cost of coal is a thing of the past! At least, there are no complaints on this account—since the removal of government restrictions—among those who have learned how to buy coal. The way to buy coal is to get it direct from the mines. This saves several middlemen's profits. It saves hauling expenses. Anyone can now buy at mine prices, whether a carload buyer or one who uses only ten or fifteen tons a year. This has been made possible through a plan evolved by a large and old-established concern, THE BERNICE COAL COMPANY, with main offices at 657 Como Building, Chicago.

This company has thousands of customers in various sections of the United States who receive all of their coal direct from the mines. These customers are pleased not only because of the many dollars they save every year, but also because of the quality of coal they are getting. Many write that they never before had coal that makes so little dust, that burns so well, leaving so few ashes. If you use a coal user—whether you use hard or soft, much or little—it will be greatly to your advantage to write the Bernice Coal Co., at once for prices, stating kind and quantity of coal you use.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF CONGRESS

While every session of congress is said to be of importance—as is indeed usually the case—the one that is now in session is most important. With President Harding's message before it, it can now enter upon the work of formulating the administration plans. The president's message reveals that there is much to be done which cannot, without great harm to the world, be longer postponed. The conditions are favorable, so there may be no excuses for failure. With a large Republican majority in both houses back of the president, the Republican party can carry out the program which has been laid down. Nor is there any great likelihood of factional opposition. Former Secretary Colby, Senator Hitchcock and Chairman White of the Democratic national committee, have all pledged—as far as they could—cordial cooperation with the majority as long as it could be yielded without the sacrifice of principle, and declared against any opposition for the mere sake of opposition, such as was shown after the armistice, by many Republicans to the Wilson administration.

So the country has a right to expect great things from the congress now in session. It does not believe that the road back to "normalcy" lies through reactionary policies, any more than it believes that progress means revolution. Taxation and finance, tariff, domestic problems, reorganization of executive departments, promotion of efficiency, foreign relations and the making of peace, the problems arising from the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations, the development of foreign markets—all of which were touched upon in Mr. Harding's message—are matters that will occupy the attention of this congress.

There is hardly a decision, or solution of these problems that will not have an effect, for good or ill upon the whole world, and thus all its problems are in a very real sense—world problems. By acting wisely, forcefully, and with vision, the congress can bring the reconstruction of society both at home and abroad, and greatly hasten the resumption of normal activities. President Harding and his party have such an opportunity for useful service as is rarely given to men. The administration of the Republican party can be made or broken by the record of the congress. Many problems have been placed before it by the president. Every foreign nation, as well as our own country, will watch and wait with interest the solution of these momentous problems.

THE PEACE RESOLUTION

The joint resolution submitted by Senator Knox to end the state of war with Germany is an advancement over the peace resolution introduced by that gentleman at the last session of congress, which was passed and vetoed by President Wilson. It is an improvement because it specifies that the United States reserves all rights which accrue to it or may accrue to it under the treaty of Versailles. Whether it goes far enough in this direction is a question which will undoubtedly be brought out in congressional debate.

A far better course would be for the United States to join with the allies on some acceptable basis for ratification of the treaty of Versailles. This would automatically take care of the technical state of war which exists and would at the same time square our peace position with our war professions.

Since it now appears that President Harding is willing to accept the Versailles treaty under amendment and modification and to even accept the League of Nations with reservations, provided it is divorced from enforcement of the treaty proper, there would appear to be no real reason why a reasonably prompt agreement could not be reached with our associates, and this logical and more consistent course followed in the conclusion of peace.

It is true that the Knox plan will not prevent our following this course in the long run, and if there is to be an extended delay the peace resolution may be preferable, provided always it properly safeguards American interests, discharges obligations and preserves American honor.

ONE OF THE UNAPPRECIATED

Beckwith, the young Socialist professor of economics at Syracuse University who shot and killed the dean of the school and then took his own life, was the victim of the sort of warped nature that leads a man to feel himself to be unappreciated, to suspect those around him to be in a conspiracy against him and to charge all his failures to others rather than to himself. Such natures are not uncommon. Their possessors do not often reach the point of insanity to which Beckwith arrived, but they make themselves disliked, because they are unable to conceal their suspicious dispositions and the jealousy aroused by the success of others; for jealousy and envy are almost invariably accompaniments of the other traits. Beckwith left a letter containing this passage: "The world as a whole has not given me justice. It seems that the employing class, the executives, who hold my fate in their hands, have been notably unfriendly as a class, unjust and unappreciative. Injustice rankles; it cuts like a knife."

He was a teacher and had more than the usual number of degrees, but within ten years had held positions successively in nine different first-class schools and colleges. As a teacher he did not prove a success and his personality was such that he was unpopular with his associates and pupils. In no case was he dismissed, but was notified before the end of the year that he would not be reappointed. This notice had come to him from the Syracuse University authorities and convinced him beyond doubt that the "world" was against him. Therefore his mental balance was hopelessly overturned and he took his revenge on the world by killing the dean. A man of normal mentality would have learned long before the ninth experiment that he was not temperamentally fitted for teaching and would have sought other employment.

Many a man has found himself to be a square peg in a round hole and has pulled himself out of it in time without laying blame on any one. It is often difficult for human beings to find the fittest place for themselves, this is not because life itself makes it necessary for individuals to adjust themselves to conditions convenient for others as well as themselves. It is a crowded world and not every one can have his own way.

JUST SO

By Alfred Arnold

Theophilus Dreamer
Was not much of a schemer.
His thoughts were of days long departed;
He could find little pleasant
In the future or the present,
But the past made him quite happy-hearted.

Now the past has its beauty:
But life has its duty;
Which is, to just live while you're living;
To find in each minute
Something worthy, and win it,
And give life return for its giving.

But thoughts reminiscent
Which gleam indolent
Held Dreamer until he was fifty;
While most of his neighbors
Were deep in the labors
Which keep us in spirit, and thrift.

Friends thought it unsightly:
But he took the facts lightly:
And so they soon ceased to remind him:
Though they said, half in pity,
These words rather witty:
"He has a great future, behind him!"

TONEY!

Where you ever invited out to a swell dinner and then got stumped on which fork to start eating with? Did you pick up your water glass and sip and sip until someone took the lead in picking up a fork? Or did you ever show up at a party in street clothes and be mortified because all the others were satin-lapel undergarment coats?

If so, salvation is at hand, for a flood of books on etiquette is appearing in our midst. It seems that none of us is to be spared, for the flood includes an "Encyclopedia on Good Form for Little Ones."

These books on how to be polite prove that everything travels in a circle. They are a resurrection of a craze that swept the country a half century ago.

Joe Miller's joke book had nothing on the etiquette guides of bygone days. In them you could find everything from "how to set the table for a six-fork dinner" to "model for a letter from a young man at preparatory school requesting funds from his father." "My Esteemed Parent," ran the letter, et cetera, et cetera, et cetera.

"Never remove false teeth at the table without holding a napkin over the mouth," was one of the printed rules.

It further appears, on perusing the old volumes in the attic, that it was bad form for a gentleman to pick his teeth with a quill when riding in a hack. It was the height of impoliteness for young folks in the twenties to lead the conversation when old folks were present. To be in good form, one's calling cards must be pinned with great flourishes that looked like an X-ray picture of the bones of a black bear.

Politeness is most commendable—particularly in adjusting us not to eat pie with a sharp knife. In a jostling, selfish city a return to good manners would make this a happier world.

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

LOSS OF HAIR

Thousands of persons who had influenza in the recent epidemic suffered loss of hair following the illness. This continued in many cases for months after the illness. But the hair grew again with its original vigor after recovery of the original health. The hair is likely to suffer in any severe acute infectious fever such as influenza, typhoid, pneumonia, scarlet fever, but almost invariably it grows in again after the patient recovers, even though the temporary loss amounts to almost complete baldness. Nor does the clipping of the hair in such illnesses in any way alter matters. An infection which begins rather like an acute infectious fever but which is of indefinite duration, is syphilis; in this disease, too, there is generally marked loss of hair. In all of these instances the falling out of the hair is due to impairment of the nutrition of the hair follicles or roots by the systemic poisoning produced by the germs of the disease.

Several years ago a drug (thallium acetate) was introduced as a remedy for the relief of the excessive sweating associated with tuberculosis and other constitutional infections or secondary pus-germ infections. It was found that many persons taking this drug suffered loss of hair; which ceased only when the drug was discontinued.

Baldness of the common type may be said to be of systemic or constitutional origin in every case, never a local condition merely. Therefore no mere "hair tonic" or remedy or treatment applied to the scalp can be properly said to restore the hair.

There are certain local conditions which do cause special types of baldness, however. Among these are tinea (ringworm), fungus, eczema, and seborrheic inflammation of the scalp (dandruff). Such local disease conditions of course call for appropriate local treatment by the physician or skin specialist, and not by barbers, hair-dressers and self-styled beauty doctors. If the hair is worth saving at all, the advice of a trained physician should be sought.

In seborrheic or dandruff baldness (alopecia) the hair first thins about the temples and slowly up over the front of the scalp. In senile baldness, (baldness of old age), the hair thins and falls out first at the vertex or back of the head and a gradually spreading round bald spot appears there, which finally extends up over the crown and the top of the head, but always leaves the back of the head, just behind the ears, and a poor fellow can conceal his baldness by pulling his hat well down upon his ears.

But gracious, here's the boy for copy, and I haven't brought on the medicine. Well, we'll have to wait till tomorrow.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Received But Not Read

Dr. Brady begs correspondents to remember that he does not read letters written with pencil or letters not properly signed.

Kindly tell me whether digitalis can be taken for a long period of time for the heart. Has it any injurious effect on any other part of the body? (C. A.)

ANSWER—It is a drug which certainly should not be used except under the immediate direction of a physician.

Girl or Woman?

Do you think it is better for a girl of fifteen to wear her hair up or down? (A. O.)

ANSWER—So far as health or the hair is concerned it is immaterial, but eighteen years is young enough for a girl to put aside girlish ways.

Lemons and Sals

Are Epsom salt baths (one pound to the bathtub) a good way to reduce? If not, how is hot water and lemon juice at bedtime? (F.)

ANSWER—Both of these are ancient quips of the "beauty specialist." Of course neither will reduce weight.

The Cure of Syphilis

Is there a hospital in any city where they can cure syphilis in three months? (L. N. G.)

ANSWER—No. Under the best of treatment syphilis cannot be pronounced arrested within less than two years.

TUNE THROUGH THE EARTH

Recently, at a meeting of some prominent men in England, the question of sinking a shaft into the earth to a depth of from 12 to 20 miles, as a possible new source of power was discussed. The cost of sinking such a shaft to 12 miles would be at least $20,000,000 and would take about 35 years to complete, this being about ten times the depth of any shaft in existence.

The greatest problem to be reckoned with would be that of heat, it being definitely known that the temperature rises one degree to every 70 feet of descent. During the first two or three miles the waste matter could be hoisted to the surface by means of a cable, but beyond this depth coils of the best steel would break under their own weight. Although engineers could doubtless tackle this tremendous task, the problems would be of quite a novel and difficult nature.

With the exception of France, the railways of continental Europe are for the most part atomized.

The Right To Quiet

By Frederic J. Haskin

New York City—The question of superfluous noise and its effect upon the public health is now receiving much energetic discussion in this city, as the result of an interesting case recently brought into a New York police court.

Haskin

This was the complaint of Francis Newton and Childs Hassam, well-known artists, against the midnight musicals of Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, Jr., prominent society woman and sister-in-law of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt. The artists claimed that their sleep was repeatedly interrupted by loud and late music in Mrs. Wilson's apartment, which is situated beneath the apartment of Mr. Hassam and over that of Mr. Newton. In a cooperatively-owned apartment house, Mrs. Wilson, appearing with several modishly gowned friends as witnesses in court, presented the novel defense that the artists could not have been greatly disturbed because her music was not common jazz but expensive orchestral melody. And the judge agreed with her.

In other words, according to the decision of this magistrate, the New York apartment house dweller has practically no redress against superfluous noise; if it be fashionable and elegant noise, though it lasts until three and four o'clock in the morning. Fortunately, however, the word of this magistrate is not the last in the now widespread noise controversy. The Public Health Department of the city is the final authority on the question of noise, and Dr. Copeland, the commissioner, is a just and vigilant protector of despairing noise victims.

When the Commissioner declares that a noise is unnecessary and objectionable, the noise is stopped. There is no argument about it, no trial, no fracas of any sort. The Commissioner merely sends his inspector around, and if the warnings of the inspector do not immediately produce a silencing effect, militant steps are taken to enforce the order. The authority of the Commissioner is close limited in this matter. He can close a house, or he can cancel the license of a noisy cafe or noisy truck. He can come into your house and silence your Victrola.

Begged for Mercy

The long-suffering artists in the aforementioned case apparently did not know this. Instead of appealing to the powerful Health Commissioner, they attempted to establish their rights as American citizens to peaceful nocturnal slumber according to methods suggested in the Constitution. They went to court. But first they sent notes to court, politely worded supplications for mercy, to Mrs. Wilson. It was impossible to live in the aid of the landlord. There was no landlord. The house was cooperatively owned.

Before the musical days of Mrs. Wilson, her apartment had been owned and lived in by William Dean Howells, who never did anything more noisy than to use a typewriter. Childs Hassam owned padded heels in his apartment overhead and moved his easels about on rubber-tired rollers. Wilson said one of the artists or writers living in the house planned to have a late party, he notified the superintendent, and the superintendent informed the neighbors. The neighbors then planned their evenings accordingly; either they stayed at home and prepared to endure the noise, or they went to the club or to the theater. It was a most satisfactory system. But William Dean Howells died. His apartment was secured by the musical Mrs. Wilson, and the old, considerate regime was ended.

When questioned concerning the Wilson case, Commissioner Copeland has been non-committal. He refuses to state how he would have settled it, had it been referred to him, inasmuch as all of his information had been obtained from the published accounts in the newspapers and not from the reports of one of his own investigators. He points out that many of the complaints against noise received by the Health Department are unreasonable—that about one out of every ten refers to a single noisy instance, and not to a whole series of them. Yet his attitude is distinctly sympathetic toward the anti-noise crusaders.

"New York," he declares, "is fast becoming a city of neurotics because of the unnecessary noises of automobiles, elevated trains, large trucks and continual traffic, to say nothing of household noises. We have the noisiest city in the world."

"The effect of the noise on the nervous system is as dangerous as any bodily disease. The vitality is lowered by the constant wear and tear of noise. The health of the average person depends upon his or her vitality and power to throw off any disease. Nervous disorders are as hard, and sometimes harder, to combat than some physical defects."

Anti-Noise Society

"A society has recently been formed to do away with unnecessary noises grinding brakes, nerve-racking automobile horns, loud motors, and other means of disturbing the much-needed quiet, and it is a work I heartily endorse. In fact, I believe it essential to the health of the city."

While continuous noise is a very great strain, sudden and intermittent noises are much more dangerous to our nervous systems, according to data accumulated by the Anti-Noise Society of which Dr. Copeland speaks. "Each loud and sudden noise," it says, "produces a distinct nerve shock and these shocks often repeated cause a loss of nerve vitality. Immunity to the sound waves of the air, thrown into violent action by a loud and sudden vibration, strike actual physical blows upon the auditory nerve, and a constant succession of such blows inevitably injures and finally destroys the delicate mechanism of the ear. Bells, whistles, gongs and the startling shrieks of street vendors are therefore more injurious to the health than the continuous roar of elevated train-horn, the monotonous whine of machinery."

Noise is regarded as particularly fatal to the person who does creative work or any mental work which requires deep concentration. Where a farmer or road builder or routine worker could endure the intermittent sound of blasting without marked effect, the sensitive nerves of a creative artist would suffer.

Years ago, Edmund Spenser, the Celtic poet, wondered why America was making so small a contribution to the fine arts. There he thought he had discovered the answer.

"I stayed in an American town," he said, "where a railway train with a clanging bell went up and down the main street every hour of the day and night. Perhaps the arts await until some Apollo shall rise and slay that python."

Charles Dickens was another creative artist who found noise a great interference to art. He not only found great fault with the noise of America, but he was constantly exasperated by the unnecessary noise especially by the noise occasioned by street musicians—in his own country. Finally he appealed to Parliament on the subject, in an eloquent memorial that was also signed by Tennyson, Millais, Holman, Hunt, Joseph Leech, Wilkie Collins and Thomas Carlyle.

Thus, it may be seen that the artists, who precipitated the existing noise controversy in New York are not without their precedents. And they are certainly not without their followers. Since the dismissal of Mrs. Wilson's case, because of the expensive nature of the noise, thousands of letters of sympathetic protest have been pouring into the offices of the New York newspapers, as well as into the Newton and Hassam households, which show that public sentiment is clearly against music that lasts after 1 a. m.

THE BOOK OF MARTHA
Little Good it is to Discuss the Past When a Lover's Quarrel is Done.

Perhaps the pressure of my arms and my hot kisses, or perhaps the elemental pull of an exhaustless love reached far down into my husband's consciousness. Bob opened his eyes; they were glazed with the look of the sleep-walker. I kissed him again and again, and slowly the dream-look faded from them, and Bob beheld me, and the recognition of me eased his soul. He sighed and then slumped softly, letting me hold up his weight, as if in one impulsive moment he threw himself—all that he was and whatever he was—upon my heart and upon my patience and upon my forgiveness.

I withdrew my face to the distance at which he could see it best, and

"Beloved!" I murmured and dared say no more although my heart was beating tempestuously to the refrain "I love you, dear, I love you!" And my lips were quivering to find him. I stifled the tempest of emotion which raged within me and lowered Bob gently down upon his pillow. He sighed and whispered, "Jane! I'm tired. I've had a bad dream—the trenches!"

I put a finger upon his lips and closed his eyes, but not to sleep. My cheek found his. It was the mildest of caresses, but to me who had starved for any caress from him for weeks, it was symbolical of the perfect harmony we had regained.

So without speaking, Bob and I made up the horrid differences which had divided us too long. Little good it is to discuss past troubles when a lover's quarrel is done. Worse than smiled and smiled as if I were a bride again, smiled also with the courage of the devoted and experienced wife.

I was determined that I would fill up my husband's mind, that no image other than mine should seize upon his imagination, no other idea than that of me should take hold of his consciousness when he became completely normal.

I heard Daddy Lorimer breathe hard as one does who waits in suspense for the end of a drama and is relieved because it turns out happily; then he and the nurse left the room, and we two, Bob and I, were alone—alone together once more—with the world shut away from us, and forgetful of time and space.

I kept on smiling, just waiting and smiling, afraid to move, afraid to speak, lest I shatter my beautiful hope. Bob spoke first—a single syllable:

"Jane!"

useless, sometimes, and this is a thing all brides would do well to write out and place in their mirror frames where they may see the warning, morning, noon and night.

Many a man-and-woman quarrel waxes by review, therefore it is the part of wifely wisdom never to touch upon it. Husband's do not need the advice because it is ever their custom to let the dead past bury its dead.

Bob and I were alone as we had not been, for many months, alone and united, and at peace once more!

I wanted to abide in that state of bliss forever, but voices in the next room proved the existence of a world outside our own. A fine contralto voice jarred upon my nerves. In a low reply, made, I suppose, to the good news carried by Daddy Lorimer:

"Wonderful! He's going to be right as rain!"

I bit my lip, for I knew that mine enemy was within the gate.

AGE OLD EXCUSE IS AS POTENT AS EVER

Opening of Navigation Removes Worry From Minds of Tardy Students.

Kaukauna—Navigation in the Fox River opened Monday. More than a hundred students who have been excused from school on the excuse that the river will have a pleasurable excursion when the spring comes or that the river will have a pleasurable excursion when the spring comes or that the river will have a pleasurable excursion when the spring comes.

In the evening when the attendance clerk goes over the tardy slips, she will find none out of every ten slips marked with the inevitable excuse. True, like any other practice often repeated, this practice becomes a habit and as a result, some unwary student will continue to write the excuse long after navigation has closed in the fall.

The tug "Jane" was the first boat to wheel at the head of the canal this season. Early Wednesday morning the bridge tender was forced to leave his post to open the bridge which marked the beginning of a summer of continual opening and closing. However, the Kaukauna bridges are equipped with motor power so geared that they can hold up a man for twenty minutes to a half hour. If the man is in a great hurry it behooves him to get across the bridge before the tender arrives on the scene. Should he miss it will be well for him to go to the nearest telephone and ask for an extension on his engagement or can call it altogether.

Review Operetta
Seats for the high school operetta "The Windmills of Holland" are being reserved on the north side of the Kaukauna drug store and on the south side at the Kaukauna drug store. There are still a number of good seats. The operetta production was given over Wednesday evening at the auditorium. With the costumes and the specially prepared scenery, the operetta is bound to be one of the most picturesque plays ever given in the city.

A beautiful Holland scene which covers the entire back of the stage and which will be used as the setting for the play was painted by Miss Johanna Hoffman, high school office secretary. Harold Deros as Myneer Hertog makes an ideal Dutchman. Mildred Kern as Vrouw Hertog is a splendid match for her husband. She has a voice of fine quality with carrying power behind it. Edw. Norton as "Hans" has his troubles until the very end of the play. His only two ambitions are to become a great composer and to win the hand of the fair Wilhelmina. In the end both his ambitions are realized in a very pleasing manner.

INTEREST GROWING IN MINSTREL SHOW

American Legion Post Complete
Preparations for Entertainment Next Week.

Kaukauna—All roads will lead to the auditorium next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings April 19 and 20, when the Kaukauna post of the American legion will present the minstrel production, "Hoop-La." Rehearsals have been underway for the last two weeks the last week having been devoted to rounding off the rough edges and putting the finishing touches that will make "Hoop-La" the biggest thing in home talent production in the history of Kaukauna.

All of the city's favorites will appear in the production and some real surprises are booked among the four big acts "Hoop-La" differs from the old time minstrel inasmuch as it is a number of big feature acts in one. It has rightly been named the "miniature hippodrome." Not satisfied with the three big whoppers in "Hoop-La," the boys are adding an extra whopper in the form of a street parade to be held Monday evening. The line will form at 6:45 at public library square and will traverse the principal streets. The entire cast for the play as well as a street band and a brass band, will appear in line many of the actors wearing their own costumes and makeup. The committee is working to have every automobile in the city in line on Monday evening.

Tickets are being sold at a rate that indicates a scarcity of them in a few days. Seats will be reserved beginning at 9 o'clock Monday morning at Brauer's drug store on the north side and the Kaukauna Drug Co. on the south side. The watchword after Monday will be "Try to get into the hall, never mind a seat."

GLEE CLUB SINGERS LIVE UP TO THEIR TOUR REPUTATION

Lawrence College Club Captivates Big Audience at Annual Concert.

Appleton tendered Lawrence Mens Glee club a warm welcome home at the closing concert of the season in Lawrence Memorial chapel Wednesday evening, completing the annual tour of several weeks. Each presentation was well received and encores were demanded as each series of songs was finished. The chapel was filled almost to capacity.

A novel closing was arranged. The lights were dimmed, with the stage lights giving only a soft red glow. In this setting the club and soloists rendered a group of "songs in the twilight."

light." The most appreciated of these numbers was "Sweet Genevieve," sung by Wendell Alexander, blind tenor, with the club accompanying in the chorus.

Mrs. Alexander moved his audience to an ovation when he sang "The Blind Ploughman" by Clarke. He also rendered "Licentiate's" "Waters of Minnetonka," and responded to an encore. Solos by Clement Hackworth, bass, of Appleton, and George Meckelson, baritone, also were well received. A comic song acted by Mr. Hackworth and several club members was especially pleasing. Bernard Behnken gave variety to the concert with horn solos and Max Schuldt with a concert piano solo and encore.

The work of the ensemble showed the results of careful training of Dean Carl J. Waterman, director. There was ease of rendition and an accuracy of harmony in the singing. The formality of delightful music approximating that of artists was broken occasionally by songs in a lighter vein where a few of the comedians in the chorus illustrated the parts with various antics. One love song lost its seriousness when one singer quickly donned a preacher's hat and black-rimmed glasses and somebody placed a bridal veil on another, ready to perform a marriage ceremony. Repeated encores were demanded of the club.

ROONEY A DIRECTOR OF NEW STATE IRISH BODY

Attorney F. J. Rooney was honored at a recent meeting in Milwaukee with election as one of seven directors of the Wisconsin branch of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic. About 8,000 people attended the gathering and perfected the state organization, which will be the parent organization of local chapters of the Friends of Irish Freedom.

Mrs. Florence MacSwiney, widow of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, who died following his famous hunger strike, was the principal speaker at a mass meeting in the Milwaukee auditorium. She spoke for over an hour on conditions in Ireland, giving an array of startling facts. The movement for support of the desired Irish "republic" is to be pushed in this state.

FOX RIVER PAPER MILL IN OPERATION

The first sign of improvement in general conditions among paper mills of Fox river valley was manifested Wednesday when the plant of the Fox River Paper Co. started up with a full crew after being shut down for a week. There is nothing to indicate how long it will continue in operation, however, that depending wholly upon orders which are beginning to come in. Some of the other mills of

The work of changing over the Teululah mill recently purchased by the Fox River Paper Co. into a writing paper plant is still in progress and might possibly be completed by May 1. No attempt has been made to start up the second paper machine which has been practically rebuilt. Paper of a very superior grade has been turned out on the other. The plant will not be in full operation for some time to come.

Choir Of 100 To Sing At Meetings

Mrs. H. C. Clase

Harold C. Clase

Mrs. A. L. Roberts

SPiRITED gospel singing will be a feature of the McCombe-Clase union evangelistic meetings opening here Sunday in Lawrence Memorial chapel. A choir of more than 100 voices is to be organized among members of the choirs of the participating churches.

Three musicians of exceptional ability are to lead in the musical portions of the services. Harold C. Clase is a chorus leader of inherent ability and expects to produce one of the strongest choirs ever formed for gospel singing in Appleton. He is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university and is a veteran of the World war. His personality and his leadership methods have made him a favorite in every city where he has served with Dr. John H. McCombe, the evangelist-preacher.

Equally dominant in her sphere is Mrs. H. C. Clase, who is the pianist of the evangelistic party. She is described as a "brilliant mistress of the piano who puts force and dash into her playing, making it a popular feature of the meetings."

A fifth member will have been added to the party when the workers reach Appleton, in the person of Mrs. Arthur Llewellyn Roberts, Iliou, N. Y. She has assisted Dr. McCombe and Mrs. Clase in previous years and again has been engaged for active participation in the campaigns. Mrs. Roberts is described as a woman of rare talent. She is a soloist possessed with an exceptional soprano voice. She is a graduate of Utica Conservatory of Music, a student of Syracuse university and a prominent member of the F. Sharp club of Utica, one of New York's best musical clubs. She also has been a successful worker with girls and young women.

Organization of a large choir already has been undertaken by P. S. Wheeler, chairman of the music committee for the meetings. Singers have been notified to attend a gathering in the chapel Saturday evening, where they will meet Mr. Clase and hold their first rehearsal. Special gospel song books supplied by the evangelists are to be used in the sessions.

is no activity in the valley. Papermills and other plants receiving their coal supply by boat from Green Bay have a large supply on hand.

It is the opinion of George Catlin, Lake st. bridge tender, that little activity will be noticed on the river this year until about May 1. Mills have enough coal to run them at least until that time.

Enlarge Office
The Northern Boiler Structural Iron Works has commenced work on an addition on the rear of its office building on Lake st., which will nearly double in size. A basement will also be put under the entire building. The new addition will harmonize with the present structure and will be used as a private office.

SHUT OFF WATER SERVICE WHEN BILLS ARE NOT PAID

Of the 100 delinquent users of water whose service was disconnected two weeks ago until they made good their arrears all have paid up except eight who are out of town. A recent ruling of the Wisconsin Railroad commission compels the utility to discontinue service where a bill remains unpaid 30 days after date. The bills of some of those disconnected had been running since last July. Some of the patrons were still agitated when they paid their bills at the office and maintained they had received no notice until shown a carbon copy mailed them and then they shifted the responsibility on the postal service. Heretofore bills not paid within a specified time were placed in the taxroll. The utility has about 3,500 patrons.

BOATS NOT MOVING ON FOX RIVER YET

Not once since navigation officially opened Monday have the three familiar blasts of the steamer or tugboat whistle been heard clamoring for the brigatenders to swing their draws, or the locktenders to make ready to raise or lower a boat.

This situation is considered unusual, because many of the river and lake boats usually are stemmed up on the opening day to make their initial trip. The quietness of navigation is blamed to business conditions. There

ST. PAUL TRACKS TO BE REPAIRED

Hundreds of Carloads to Be Used for Surfacing Right of Way.

The track of the Appleton-Hilbert branch of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad Co. is to be cindered this spring for the first time in several years. This decision was reached by officials who made a tour of inspection over the division this week. Several other changes that will effect Appleton and which have not yet been announced will also be made.

The cinders are to be procured from paper mills of the Fox river valley and hundreds of carloads will be used. The work will be commenced within the next few days and will be continued without interruption until finished. The surfacing has worn away in many places, especially between Appleton and Menasha, to such an extent as to expose the ties.

The Appleton-Hilbert branch has of late years become one of the most important of the road. The division is one of the few of the company that so far has not been effected by any great extent by the business depression. This has been due to the large shipments of pulpwood which are just beginning to let up.

In their tour of inspection over the division officials paid special attention to all branches on which considerable work is to be done the coming summer. Owing to the stringency of the money market the company will continue its improvements this season to those most urgent.

COMPLETING WORK ON NEW DIRECTORY

Wright Directory Co., Will Be Ready to Send Names to Printer Soon.

Canvassing Appleton for the names of residents for the new city directory by the Wright Directory company of Milwaukee is practically completed. The balance of the work is in checking back the names.

A large part of the county canvassing has been finished and within three or four weeks the names will be ready for compiling. This means that the directory will be distributed at an early date.

"There are hardly any vacant houses in Appleton," stated J. T. Farrell of Milwaukee, who has charge of the work. "We have found congested conditions at many of the homes where there are two families living together."

"Appleton seems to be a city of large families which ought to show a material increase in its growth in the next five years. There is a feeling of good fellowship among the businessmen and the industries are substantial which certainly insures a good future."

"The canvassing this year has shown a large increase in population over that of our last canvass."

BISHOP RHODE LEAVES SOON FOR TRIP TO ROME

The Right Rev. Bishop Paul F. Rhode, of the Green Bay diocese, is to leave for Rome in a few weeks, according to a pastoral letter issued recently to churches of the diocese. He intends to be gone two or three months.

In his letter read to members of the parish in Green Bay he urges liberal support of the coming campaign for a million dollars for Catholic charities of the diocese. He expresses his elation over the work accomplished by the churches of this locality, saying it will be a source of confidence when he accounts for his stewardship before the high church officials of the Eternal city.

DUNBAR'S "MIKADO" MAKES BIG HIT HERE

Tuneful songs, witty lines and pretty girls—perhaps the pretty girls should come first—made Ralph Dunbar's revival of that popular old comic opera, "The Mikado," one of the big successes of the Appleton theatrical season. Despite a splendid counter attraction—Lawrence college glee club concert—the theatre was filled for the production Wednesday night and there were mighty few in the crowd who were not well satisfied.

El. Andrews, who played the part of Ko-Ko many years ago, appeared in that role Wednesday night and delighted the audience with his antics. He possesses a good singing voice and is a splendid comedian.

Miss Patricia Baker as "Yum-Yum" was as pretty a girl as can be found in a year's search. She knows how to act and can sing and that kind of a combination is hard to beat. Yum-Yum was backed up by a chorus of beauties and her partners, Pittu-Sing and Peo-Po were not hard to look at.

Nanki-Poo, minstrel son of the Mikado was played by T. L. Alban, a young chap with a nice tenor voice. The rest of the company was up to standard, presenting a delightful entertainment.

INGROWN TOE NAIL TURNS OUT ITSELF

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night. NEENAH WANTS TO FORM SALES CLASS LIKE APPLETON'S

Secretary Corbett of C. of C. Tells Neighbors About Salesmanship.

What Appleton had accomplished in its merchandising class during the winter was explained by Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce to merchants and salespeople of Neenah stores at a meeting conducted by the Neenah Civic association in Neenah high school Wednesday evening. The merchants decided to conduct a class on a large scale next fall and to arrange a plan of cooperation with Appleton.

Speaking on the "Factors for Success in Retail Selling," Mr. Corbett gave many suggestions for organizing a class. He showed how salesmanship had been placed on a scientific basis, and why it was necessary to teach salespeople its elements. He related the history of salesmanship briefly, telling how some of the most successful merchants in the country had built up their stores.

A study of the salesman, the goods and the customer were needed in successful selling, Mr. Corbett said. He said the sales person must learn the importance of character and health as assets to selling. He must know how to study human nature, how to analyze the customer and the goods, and how to build a constructive selling appeal. Many other factors in modern merchandising were explained.

Tentative plans were made for possible joint meetings with Appleton classes next fall when important speakers were to be present. An attempt also will be made to engage the same speakers for both cities, dividing the expense.

SHORTAGE OF WARDENS; ASK SPORTSMEN'S HELP

With its force of wardens reduced because the legislature failed to pass a special appropriation bill, the Wisconsin Conservation commission is appealing to all persons interested in protection of fish and game to report violations of the conservation laws.

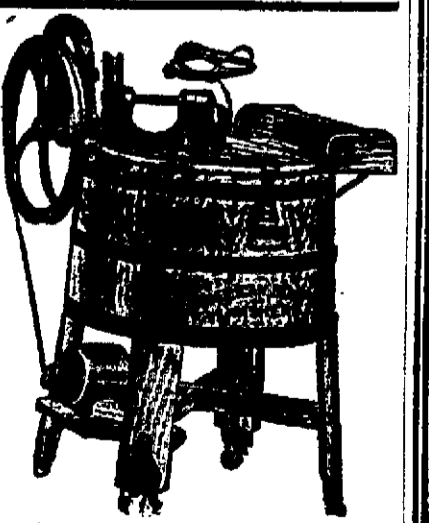

The special bill provided for enough pay to maintain the customary force of wardens until July 1. A number were dropped when the bill failed to pass. The new fiscal year begins July 1, when the salary matter will be adjusted. The commission asks assistance in the meantime so the laws can be enforced while this body is short handed.

Men Admire Beautiful Eyes: Census of Opinion Taken Among Male Sex Shows That Orbs Are the Focus of Attraction.

The girl with deep, soulful, expressive eyes is the girl who usually wins out over her less attractive sisters. Rich, well-defined brows and long, dark lashes are absolutely indispensable to bring out the beauty of the eyes. In fact, the part that these adornments play in bringing out the life and sparkle of the eyes can hardly be overstated.

If you want to aid the growth of your brows and lashes, go to your druggist and get one-half ounce orbitone. Follow directions carefully, and you will be surprised and delighted with the results. This is a perfectly harmless preparation. It comes in brown, dark and light. The dark and brown darken the brows and lashes, as well as quickly promoting their growth.

You can obtain orbitone from J. E. Voigt, druggist, or any well stocked drug store; or will be sent direct on receipt of fifty cents, by the Orbitone Laboratories Co., 1259 N. Clark street, Chicago. State shade wanted.

NEW RIVER TUG IS BUILT AT OSHKOSH

A new tug named the George D. Ryan and owned by the Fox River Navigation company, Neenah, will ply the Fox River this summer supplying coal to paper mills of the valley. The new craft was launched recently in the Ryan shipyards, Oshkosh. It was named after George D. Ryan, the veteran shipbuilder who has built most of the boats operating on the rivers and lakes in this vicinity.

The boat is 75 feet long, has a 10 foot beam and a 6 foot draft. It is equipped with a 100 horsepower engine. With two barges, No. 4 and 5, each 145 feet long, 24 feet wide and with a 6 foot draft, the three craft are valued at $40,000. The barges have a carrying capacity of 450 tons.

JUMPS TO SAFETY AS TEAM TAKES FLIGHT

John Griesbach, town of Center, had a narrow escape from injury Monday when his work team hauling a heavy load of grain became unmanageable and ran away while he was driving toward Mackville. The wagon straddled the side of a culvert, stripping down two posts put there to warn autoists of the presence of the ditch. It remained upright and the horses sped onward. In some manner the whiffle trees detached themselves and the team was freed from the wagon, which remained upright. They ran along the Wisconsin and Northern railroad tracks and finally were caught.

Mr. Griesbach saw that his horses were not to be controlled, so jumped to the road as they started. He was uninjured. He had placed an open

CABBAGE SEED TO BE TREATED HERE

In an effort to help Outagamie county farmers reduce the loss to their cabbage crops from black rot and stump rot, a meeting is to be held in Grand Chute town hall Thursday afternoon, April 21, at which Prof. R. E. Vaughan, Madison, will treat all cabbage seed brought there by residents of the county. Mr. Vaughan expects to be at the hall all afternoon and will be assisted by William Wilhelm, cabbage buyer. The former is plant disease expert of the college of agriculture.

Proper treatment of seed has greatly reduced losses in other counties and is to be tried out here by any cabbage growers who are interested enough to try the plan this summer. Prof. Vaughan does not claim that seed treatment will absolutely prevent stump rot or black rot, but is resorted to as a control measure.

This procedure will kill all germs on the seed, doing away with a large percentage of the ruinous malady. But germs may be in the soil or in the seed bed where the plants are started before being set out. The seed treatment would not prevent these germs from becoming active.

Corrosive sublimate will be used by Prof. Vaughan in preference to formaldehyde, because it has been found more effective. No guarantee accompanies this service, but it has been found to work profitably in other sections.

APPLETON NETBALLERS SHOW TRICKS TO MANAWA

A group of Y. M. C. A. volleyball men made a trip to Manawa Wednesday evening to start out a group of business men in the mysteries of the game. The Appleton men found the Manawa business men just learning the rudiments of the game. The visitors played three games with their hosts and won in spite of the fact that they tried to throw away the last game. The scores were 15-4; 15-12; 15-14.

Walsh of Seymour was the official. The Manawa men were quite interested in a match and in that way they themselves learned not a little about the game.

A boy scout band of 15 pieces was on hand. There was a large audience in the hall to witness the games. The matches were played in the high school court, which is considerably smaller than the local Y. M. C. A. court.

ALL SET FOR FISTIC SHOW IN ARMORY G THIS EVENING

PRINCIPALS SAY THEY ARE FIT FOR GRUELING BATTLE

Gorman and McGorty Arrive Here Wednesday—First Bout Starts at 8:45.

THE CARD
Bud Gorman, Kenosha, vs. Eddie McGorty, Chicago, 10 rounds at catch weights.
Young Herzog, Oshkosh, vs. Kid Moha, Oshkosh, 8 rounds at 131 pounds.
Wagner, Appleton, vs. Zwick, Kaukauna, 6 rounds at 150 pounds.

Bud Gorman and Eddie McGorty, who will battle in Armory G Thursday night, arrived in Appleton Wednesday night and this morning pronounced themselves in the pink of condition. Both men were given thorough examinations by physicians engaged by the Wisconsin boxing commission who said they are fit to fight.

Gorman will outweight McGorty by from 20 to 25 pounds. The commission has agreed to permit them to go on at catch-weights, figuring McGorty's skill will offset the bulk of his opponent.

The first bout is scheduled to start at 8:45. It was originally planned to begin at 8:30 but it was necessary to defer the start in order to wait for a large delegation of Oshkosh fans who are coming by special interurban car. Dauber Jaeger of Fond du Lac, well known here, will be the third man in the ring. It is believed that Walter Lightner will represent the boxing commission. The main bout must be started not later than 10 o'clock.

Good Semi-Windups
The semi-windup should furnish about as much action as the main attraction. Kid Moha and Young Herzog have no particular love for each other and this will give them an opportunity to vent some of their ill feeling. Although they were signed only recently they are in excellent condition inasmuch as both have been fighting quite often of late.

Wagner and Zwick, in the opening bout, are expected to give the fans plenty of excitement. Wagner is picked to win although Zwick is no slouch. The local boy has been working hard for more than two weeks and is in splendid condition. He has been boxing with men much larger than he is in order to become accustomed to heavy punching and then he has taken on the smaller fellows to develop his speed. Zwick has been working out in Kaukauna and is expected to bring a delegation of his pals with him.

All in all the card is as good as any presented in the state outside of Milwaukee and there are a lot of Milwaukee fans who would like to see McGorty and Gorman in action. In fact they want to see the fight so badly they are spending considerable coin of the realm for railroad tickets to come here.

The ticket sale indicates a sold out house. Nearly all of the ring-side tickets were sold before Thursday morning and there has been a heavy demand for the cheaper seats.

Watching The Scoreboard

Yesterday hero—George Kelly. The skyscraper first baseman of the Giants smacked a homer in the eleventh inning that beat the Phils, 10 to 8.

Babe Ruth hit two doubles and three singles in five visits to the plate, helping the Yanks to beat the Athletics, 11 to 1.
Bohne and Fonseca, recruit infielders of the Reds, got two hits each and figured in the five to three victory over the Pirates.

Two wild throws in the third inning gave the Browns a four to two win over the Cleveland Indians. Smith hit a homer and Sewell made three errors.

Alexander the Great pitched his first opening game and the Cubs beat the Cards, 5 to 2.
O'Farrell slugged a home run with one on.

President Harding threw the first ball and kept a box score of the Red Sox, 6 to 3, victory over the Senators. Walter Johnson lasted only four innings in the box.

Pinch hits by Neils and Sheehan figured in the Robins' 5 to 4 victory over the Braves. O'Neil's homer with one on knocked Cadore off the mound in the seventh.

RED SOX WIN FIRST GAME FROM SENATORS

Washington, D. C.—The President and Mrs. Harding, Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge, Gen. Pershing, members of the cabinet and congress, the diplomatic corps and President Ban Johnson of the American league, were in the record breaking crowd which attended the opening game on Wednesday of the baseball season in Washington. Boston won, 6 to 3, by bunting hits on three Washington pitchers.

Walter Johnson started in the box for Washington and for the first time in his long career failed to finish an opening game. He gave way after four innings when Boston had obtained a one run lead. The score: Boston.....1 2 0 2 0 1 1 0—6 Washington.....1 2 0 0 0 0 0—3

Batteries: Boston—Jones and Ruel; Washington—Johnson, Erickson, Zachar and Picinich and Garrity.

YANKEES WALLOP ATHLETICS, 11-1

New York—Showing the same impressive offense as last season, the New York Americans on Wednesday opened the season here with an 11 to 1 victory over Philadelphia.

Babe Ruth, New York batting star of last season, started the 1921 campaign with two doubles and three singles in five minutes at bat. Eddie cleared the bases with a three base hit in the eighth inning. Mays pitched a strong game for New York, only four Philadelphia players reaching first.

Mayor Hylan threw out the first ball. Among the guests of honor were army and navy officers of high rank.

LEWIS WHIPS LONDAS AFTER HARD STRUGGLE

Chicago—Ed "Strangler" Lewis heavyweight wrestling champion, flopped Jim Londas, Greek wonder, in a one fall match here Wednesday night with a headlock in one hour and 52 minutes.

Stanislaus Zhyzko won a one fall victory over John Pesek, Nebraska farmer, throwing him in one hour and thirty-three minutes with a half nelson and croch.

New York—Augie Ratner won the judges' decision from Ted Lewis after a 15 round bout here Wednesday night.

Ratner had eight and one-half pounds on Lewis and won fourteen rounds.

Cardinals Have Pennant Hopes

Orange, Tex.—Branch Rickey, the school master-manager of the National League, has put his St. Louis Cardinals through a strenuous schooling this spring.

And the result? There is pennant chatter humming in the Cards' camp. And Rickey says he has a "pat" hand.

"No lost motion," is Rickey's long suit. On the playing field he shows his men, vets and rookies, how to pitch, bat, field and run bases. He detects faults—and corrects them.

Flock of Hitters
There have been three batting cages on the job in the Cards' camp and much time has been put in at getting slugging practice. The St. Louis crew threatens to be a flock of all lambs—ters this season.

"My idea of teaching baseball technique is to show players the correct way of doing things," says Rickey. "Then drill it into them until they execute it through habit."

Rookie Hurter Shines
Haines, Goodwin, Sherdell, May and North look safe as a hurling crew when added to Schupp and Doak. Of the young pitchers, Bill Pertica and Tink Riviere stack up strong, especially Riviere.

George Toporcer, the specialized semi-pro player, will hold down second. Jack Fourmyer and Hornsby at third. Hornsby moved to third when Milton Stock failed to turn up. Much is expected of Toporcer at the key-stone sack.

Cliff Heathcote will be the center-field pivot. Les Mann and Clarence Mueller will alternate in right and Austin McHenry and Bert Shotton in left. Mueller has jumped from bat boy with the Cards in 1920, to a regular this year.

Three Vet Catchers
Behind the plate Rickey has three vets, Vernon Clemens, "Pickles" Dillhoefer and Lew McCarty.
There is a general feeling among the Cards that if Stock returns there is a cracking good chance to cop the pennant. And without him Rickey fears only the Giants and the Pirates. In the event of Stock's joining the team, Hornsby would probably be switched to the outfield.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Baseball scandal uncovered during the last winter apparently has had no effect on interest in the national sport, judging from the crowds which attended the opening games Wednesday. American fans will quickly forget the black Sox in watching the excellent work of the present players and baseball will be more popular than ever.

If Eddie McGorty should slip over a K. O. on Bud Gorman when they meet in Armory G tonight it will stamp Eddie as one of the most wonderful fighters of the age. Eddie has been boxing since most of his wore knee pants and if he still packs a punch it indicates he is possessed of a vitality that all of us would like to have. At any rate the card looks interesting and the fans will undoubtedly get an eye full.

Sooner or later Earl Caddock will get pretty well acquainted with the headlock that Strangler Lewis brings into play on the wrestling mat. The Iowa tried again the other night and once more, he failed. Lewis put the dome grasp on so tight that Caddock was unconscious for half an hour. Incidentally, it might be added that Lewis narrowly escaped being mobbed by the crowd when they saw their favorite laying dead to the world on the mat. One of these days there may be a nice little lynch story unless the Strangler quits using his pet hold when in enemy territory.

Judge Landis knows what to say and when to say it. His bit of advice to the big leaguers hit the nail right on the head and it burst forth at a most appropriate time. No doubt the squawks will be busy right off the bat and every time a player makes an error some of the chronic kickers are going to spill a bit about scandal and recall a few stunts which were pulled off in the 1919 world series. However, they will be in the minority because the majority of the fans know that baseball is on the square except when a few of black sheep fall victims to the gamblers money.

In Washington, Walter Johnson's pitching arm is causing nearly as much worry as the peace resolution of Senator Knox. If the veteran slab artist is right this season, the Nationals are very likely to cut quite a figure in Ban Johnson's American league race. Ed Garrity, Washington backstop, who played a guard on the Beloit Fairies basketballers last winter ventured the remark to the writer that if the "Big Smedley" came through O. K. the Senators would be right in the midst of the pennant fight.

RECRUITS EXPECTED TO MIX IN GAME ON SUNDAY

There is a possibility of the local fans seeing a good game of ball Sunday by two teams made up of the men from whom the Appleton team will be selected. Provided the grounds are in shape on that day, Owner August Brandt is confident the men will make a good showing and one of the best teams in the league can be selected from the recruits.

Appleton will play its first game May 15 with the Kimberly team.

KELLY'S HOME RUN WINS FOR NEW YORK'S GIANTS

Philadelphia—Kelly's home run with Risch on first base, decided an eleven inning struggle in favor of New York here on Wednesday, 10 to 8. Each team had one big inning, Philadelphia taking the lead in the fourth, but losing it in the seventh, when New York batted Ring out of the box. The locals tied the score in their half and Betts held New York safe until the eleventh. The usual opening day ceremonies were held, marking the debut of William Donovan as the Philadelphia manager. New York.....0 0 0 1 0 2 4 0 0 3—10 Philadelphia.....0 1 0 4 1 0 2 0 0 1—8
Two base hits—Rapp, Burns, Rawlings.
Batteries: New York—Douglas, Barnes, Toney and E. Smith; Philadelphia—Ring, Betts and Brugg.

The word "mob" was considered slang 200 years ago.

IMMENSE CROWDS SEE LEAGUERS IN OPENING BATTLES

Capacity Throngs Crowd Parks as Baseballers Blow Lid Off Season.

(By Henry L. Farrell)

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—If the pulse of the opening day means anything, baseball is back with a stronger heartbeat than ever. The attendance at every major league park Wednesday showed there is nothing wrong with the old game. The only trouble is in the parks—there isn't room enough.

There must have been forty thousand crammed and jammed in the Polo grounds and a good five thousand were two blocks away festering and fuming at the reserve cops who wouldn't let anyone through the lines except ticket holders.

Cincinnati, famous for opening day crowds went over the top for a new record when 30,500 piled through the gates.

Chicago welcomed Johnny Evers back to the old Cub lair with an outpouring of 25,000.

In most every baseball city the casualties among grandmothers was proportionately about the same. The crowds saw some great baseball for such an early day.

With the exception of the Cleveland Indians and the Pittsburgh Pirates, all the contenders lived up to the advance notices from the south. The Yankees, with a slaughtering attack at the bat and a good defense, looked like a million dollars against the Athletics.

Athletics Not So Bad
But, barring a tendency to go up in the air, a falling of young ball clubs, the Athletics did not look a bit bad.

The Giant pitchers are not all that can be expected yet, but the club showed the customary McGraw spirit by going eleven innings to win the game.

The Brooklyn Robins didn't despair with a four to nothing count against them and won out from the Braves. Ragged infield defense cost the Indians a victory to the Browns. Tris Speaker probably will have a lot of trouble until Wamby or Lunte get back into the game.

With youngsters on second and short the infield lacks balance.

Even without Groh, Roush and Kopf, the Reds were good enough to beat the Pirates. If Bohne and Fonseca play and hit all season as they did Wednesday, Pat Moran won't miss the holdouts so much. Bohne got a double and a triple and Fonseca got a single and a triple.

CHICAGO BRUINS WIN FROM CARDINALS, 5-2

Chicago.—The Chicago Nationals, with Grover Alexander pitching, ushered in the major league season on Wednesday with a 5 to 2 victory over St. Louis. It was the first opening game Alexander has been credited with since he joined the Cubs. However, it was not all due to his pitching that Chicago won, consistent hitting in the fourth innings clinched the game, for Johnny Evers, the new manager of the club.

Haines weakened and was pounded for five hits in this inning, one of which was a home run drive over the right field wall by O'Farrell. One man was on base at the time.

For six innings Alexander pitched in masterly form, only one hit being made off him. That was a scratch by Heathcote in the opening inning.

Hornsby drew a walk in the fourth but was nipped off first.

Painted Floors Save Housework

Bare wood floors, especially kitchen floors, require much back breaking work, scrubbing, to keep them clean. Acme Quality Floor Paint makes this unnecessary. It forms a smooth, hard, non-absorbent surface from which dirt and grime can be easily wiped off. It protects and saves the surface.

ACME QUALITY FLOOR PAINT (Granite)

is easy to apply. It is inexpensive—a quart is enough for one coat on the average kitchen floor. Dries quickly and withstands the severe wear to which floors are subjected. Furnished in attractive colors. Sample color cards on request.

Until the eighth, Oeschger held the visitors to two hits and had brilliant support. In the seventh O'Neil, with two on

NO WITNESSES TO ACCIDENT WHICH CAUSED A DEATH

Coroner's Jury Hears Steffen's Story of How Fatal Accident Occurred.

So far as is known there were no eye witnesses to the accident at the corner of College-ave. and Appleton-st. Monday morning in which Mrs. H. J. Robloff of Sunnyslope was killed by a delivery truck belonging to Hopfensperger Bros. and driven by Lawrence M. Steffen. At the inquest before Dr. H. E. Ellis, worth, coroner, in the city hall Thursday morning, Steffen said he did not see the woman until after he had ran over her. The first knowledge he had of anything being wrong was when he felt a jar and he immediately stopped the truck. He said he was going not to exceed 12 miles an hour. Steffen had just come down College-ave. and turned south on Appleton-st. when the accident occurred. Near Carr & Hanson's pool hall he overtook an oil truck which he passed and just ahead of him at the time was a man on a bicycle, who was also going east. He blew his horn and slackened up as he approached the intersection of Appleton-st. as he did not know which way the wheelman was intending to turn. He did not identify either the driver of the oil truck or the man on the wheel. The witness said he did not see anyone when he turned south on Appleton-st. The sun was shining on the hood of the automobile and on the windshield at the time he made the turn, but was unable to say whether that would prevent him from seeing anyone crossing the street. He was asked by the coroner if his attention was diverted by a coat falling from the truck or a dog jumping from it and said it was not. Steffen made a rather short turn on account of he and the bicycle rider reaching the corner about the same time. He did not know where Mrs. Robloff was when she was hit but stopped the truck 31 feet south of the south line of an imaginary cross walk on College-ave. He had worked for
